The History of The Lawson Academy

The Lawson Academy was conceived by Mrs. Audrey Lawson and established to meet the critical academic and social development needs of inner-city youth. Since opening its doors in the fall of 2002, The Lawson Academy has attended to middle school males enrolled in grades 6 - 8, providing them an authentic, enriched learning community that believes all students can learn and that, given the right guidance and preparation, all students can become their best selves.

Early on in its development, The Lawson Academy purposefully implemented a single-gender strategy for education. Located on the Texas Southern University campus and warmly embraced by non-profit, for-profit, fraternal and community organizations, this model has demonstrated a positive impact on the students and families it serves. Within our single-gender educational program, teachers, administrators, and other stakeholders can address students' unique physical, social, and emotional needs, and provide them with a safe, secure, and nurturing environment that fosters their academic growth.

In 2011, the academy expanded its model to include a girls' program. Female middle-school students had an opportunity to benefit from an equally rigorous academic experience as well as build meaningful relationships and reinforce invaluable character traits that continue to make The Lawson Academy program so successful.

The Lawson Academy is an open-enrollment public institution with established academic requirements and requisite parental commitment. We welcome any students who willingly accept the challenge to become college ready and to demonstrate personal integrity and a responsibility.

Each scholar who attends The Lawson Academy is recognized as an individual who has unique abilities, needs, and interests. For that reason, we foster a student-centered learning environment that models high expectations for academic achievement and that provides an atmosphere of mutual respect for students, staff, family, and community members.

The vision of The Lawson Academy is to create a student-centered, collaborative learning environment in which our scholars utilize innovative learning approaches and technology to become college-ready and to develop into civic-minded, contributing members of the global community.

Our mission is to provide a comprehensive education in single-gender environment based on four cornerstones:

- Relevant curriculum
- Rigorous instruction
- Respect for self and others in the learning community
- Reciprocity, or give and take, of ideas and talents

Our values rest on six pillars of excellence:

Scholarship
Work

Integrity
Culture

Brotherhood/Sisterhood
Liberty

From the Principal's Office

Dear Parents and Guardians,

On behalf of The Lawson Academy faculty and staff, I would like to welcome you to a new school year! We are eager to get to work, challenging your child in the classroom and reinforcing the attitudes and behaviors you are teaching at home.

The Lawson Academy maintains a solid tradition of academic excellence. Each young man and young woman who attends the academy is expected to contribute to that tradition. To be sure, much of our success this year will depend on our teachers' commitment to fostering students' conduct, character, and achievement. Nevertheless, every single scholar must also accept responsibility to honor scholarship, to respect the members of the learning community, and to act and speak with integrity.

This year, our school theme is "Growth, A Goal All Can Achieve".

The faculty and staff are committed to setting the standard of high-quality performance on campus, and the Lawson Academy Parent-Student Handbook provides you with some of the tools you will need to ensure your student is informed and prepared.

The handbook will help you and your child understand The Lawson Academy school policies and procedures, ensuring that we reach our goals as The Lawson Academy family. As you know, children are most successful when parents and school staff work together. One of the first ways you can demonstrate support is by reviewing this handbook with your child, signing all the required documents, and talking periodically with your student about the importance of following school guidelines. Knowing that you are actively interested in school will help your child get off to a good start and sets the tone for an excellent year.

Thank you for entrusting your child's development at The Lawson Academy. We are honored to serve the next generation of leaders, and we look forward to building a strong partnership with you.

Respectfully,

Marthea Raney, Ed.D Principal

GENERAL INFORMATION

Attendance

When a student is absent, the parent is to call The Lawson Academy office (713) 225-1551 before 9:00 a.m. and report the absence by giving the following information: student name, grade, and the reason for absence. Failure to provide a proper written excuse (within three days of return to the school) will result in an absence being considered an unexcused absence. Students must always maintain a 90% or higher attendance rate. Excessive absences will result in loss of credit for coursework. Three or more consecutive absences will result in an attendance referral. Excessive absences can result in retention in the current grade level.

Upon returning (from an absence) to school, the student is required to do the following:

- a. Bring a written excuse/note from a parent or doctor stating the reason for the absence.
- b. Deliver the written note to The Lawson Academy office which opens at 7:15 a.m.

Note to Parent: Absences are excused for personal illness or a death in the family. It is very important for every student to be in class every day to maximize their every opportunity for academic success. To that end, please do not schedule any vacations, family trips, or doctor's appointments (if possible) etc. during school hours. In addition, please do not check your child out of school (as a matter of convenience) prior to the end of the school day. Early departures from campus will not be honored after 2:00pm. (emergencies only) Interruptions to the instructional setting (even the last five minutes of the day) are not appropriate.

Daily Attendance Time

The state requires that daily attendance be submitted by 10:00 a.m. However, attendance will be taken at the start at the first Parents are asked to schedule appointments (dentist, doctor, orthodontist, etc.) after school.

Tardy Policy

Students should arrive to school at 7:15am. Breakfast is served on campus daily from 7:15am-7:30am. Students beginning the day promptly is important and demonstrates their commitment to success. A student arriving to school after 7:35am is considered late and must report directly to the school office to sign in.

The Lawson Academy Tardy Policy has been developed to emphasize the importance of each student being in the classroom for the entire period, as well as arriving on time to school every day. Learning the responsibility of getting to class on time is an integral part of The Lawson Academy standard of excellence, which prepares students for success. During the first few days of school, all teachers will be working with their students, focusing on getting organized and arriving to class on time daily.

The student's responsibility is to consistently improve personal efficiency in transitioning between classes, while still moving safely and orderly through the hall traffic. Students must be in class and in their seats before the tardy bell rings.

The teacher's responsibility is to encourage students to discover the best routine for transitioning between classes. All teachers will be standing at the classroom door to supervise students during time and to close the classroom door when the tardy bell rings. Classroom instruction starts when the tardy bell sounds.

The parent’s responsibility is to discuss this policy with his/her child, reinforcing the student’s ability to meet this responsibility of learning promptness, and supporting the necessity for the school’s establishing immediate consequences to prevent chronic tardiness.

Student Schedule

The Lawson Academy students follow a regular daily schedule designed to maximize instructional time and address instructional deficiencies. Classes meet every day (Monday through Friday) for 70 minutes.

The formal academic day ends at 4:10 p.m.

Each first period teacher (homeroom) will collect all cell phones and place it in a zipped locked bag labeled with the student's name. All cell phones will be stored in a locked secured place in the main office. Student cell phones will be returned to the last period teacher by designated personnel at the end of each class period. No student will ever be assigned the responsibility to pick-up or return cell phones to students.

Parent/Teacher Conferences

Parent concerns can best be resolved at the campus level, where most issues arise. Arrangements can be made for parent conferences with individual teachers, and school administrators. These meetings must be prearranged and cannot be guaranteed on a walk-in basis.

Parents should call the school at (713)225-1551 to schedule a conference. Health Services

The Lawson Academy does not staff a full-time nurse on either the boys' or the girls' campus. If a student is to take medication during the school day, the parent must supply the school with a doctors' permit, allowing a designated school staff or the student to administer medication. Otherwise, The Lawson Academy staff is not permitted to administer over the counter medication of any kind to students.

All medication that is administered on campus must be dispensed from the bottle/container provided by the pharmacist and cannot be transferred into a baggie or other receptacle. The Lawson Academy staff will not be permitted to dispense medication to students without written parent consent. All medication must be registered with the Principal and school registrar and, thereafter, can be administered only in the school's main office.

Honor Code

In accordance with the mission of the school, The Lawson Academy students will not participate in dishonesty, cheating, stealing, bullying or harassing.

The Lawson Academy students will conclude an orientation annually by promising, in writing, to uphold the Honor Code:

I pledge to uphold The Lawson Academy Honor Code in letter and in spirit throughout this school year.

The Lawson Academy students will also use a pledge on all tests, projects, papers, reports and long-term assignments:

I pledge that I have upheld The Lawson Academy Honor Code in letter and in spirit.

“The Lawson Academy students will not participate in dishonesty, cheating, stealing, bullying or harassing...”

Dishonesty

At The Lawson Academy, we believe it is vital to tell the truth at all times, recognizing there is honor in telling the truth even when that truth reveals a mistake or an error in judgment. It requires courage to face mistakes and accept responsibility for their consequences.

Telling the truth includes explaining accurately why work was not completed on time or was incomplete, why one was absent or late from school, why one missed an obligation, how one interacted with other students or a teacher, and any other specifics about one's actions. A student who makes false excuses for his or her behavior has not upheld our Honor Code.

Cheating

At The Lawson Academy, we believe students must engage in honest scholarship. Honest scholarship in student work means that the product comes from a student's own mind and effort. Such work includes all tests, exams, long-range projects, and homework. Written work, for instance, needs to reflect a student's ideas, organization, punctuation, and sentence structure. To help families and students alike understand types of habits and help which are suitable or not, we provide the following examples of permissible and non-permissible help that can be given and/or received, keeping in mind that the spirit of the law is more important than the letter. All families should review and discuss these examples at home.

Students who give or receive help with the intent of providing or gaining an unfair academic advantage are not living up to the Honor Code.

Permissible Help From Fellow Students and Parents

- Telling another student what the assignment is
- Repeating specific directions given by the teacher
- Identifying weakness in organization, style, word choice or content. It is permissible to comment: “This paragraph is weak,” or “These words are misspelled,” or “You didn't answer all the questions.”
- Sharing notes (unless the notes are the assignment)
- Showing another student how to do a problem by using another example
- Brainstorming ideas on creative writing assignments
- Reviewing material in preparation for a test or exam
- Discussing concepts that were addressed in class or engaging in discussion of course material for better understanding

Non-Permissible Help From Fellow Students and Parents

- Giving another student your answer or answers to any given question
- Telling another student how to re-write something (i.e. "...just write this down.")
- Sharing with another student any content that is part of an answer
- Letting someone read your answers, knowing or suspecting he or she intends to paraphrase those answers
- Showing or explaining to another student where to find information for an assignment (i.e. "look on page 34 for the answer")
- Looking at another student's paper and/or using his or her ideas or answers
- Using a calculator when not permitted
- Having another person, including a parent, assist with the production of an assignment, including typing or word processing written work. (Exceptions are made for students with special learning needs.)
- Discussing any aspect of a quiz, test or exam before all students have taken the test
- Letting a project partner do all of the work and then putting your name on the final project
- Using any part of someone else's work without proper acknowledgement

Homework, Papers, Projects

Our Honor Code does not expressly address plagiarism, though it is clearly a form of lying, cheating, and stealing. When doing research, students may use the ideas, even the exact words, of other authors. Whether quoted directly or paraphrased, however, such borrowed material must be properly cited. Students will learn and practice how to use proper citations in their composition classes. All teachers assigning papers requiring research will reemphasize the importance of proper citations and will expect compliance.

All rough and final drafts of assigned papers and written projects must reflect the student's ideas, organization, punctuation, and sentence structure. All projects must reflect the student's own labor, design, and artwork.

Exams, Tests, Quizzes

Honest scholarship in test situations means that students refrain from looking at other students' papers, even if the information is not used. Obviously, taking answers from another test and using them or looking at one's notes or a text is forbidden. Any time a student is unable to finish a test during a given period and the teacher allows the student to return later to complete it, the student may not talk to others about the test or look at related materials in the interim. Moreover, if any aspect of a test (content, format or level of difficulty) is discussed between students who have and who have not taken the test, students on both the giving and receiving end of this conversation are guilty of breaching the Honor Code. Students also may not give advance notice to others of pop quizzes.

Collaboration among students is often directed by faculty, but students should know that unless specific directions for collaboration are given by their teacher, it is understood that assignments are to be done individually. When appropriate, students will be encouraged by the teacher to help each other by critiquing writing, clarifying the directions, comparing the length of answers, sharing resource books, discussing a group project or lab experience in preparation for writing it up, and giving examples.

There are several very difficult “gray” areas. For instance, we strongly discourage students from comparing answers (the familiar “What did you get on number 12?”) because while the intent is simply to identify errors (permissible), the result is often to supply answers (a violation).

Similarly, we urge parents to use discretion when providing correct spellings; in many cases, looking the word up and copying it from a dictionary stimulate better retention.

Stealing

At The Lawson Academy, we believe in respect for one another’s property. A student who demonstrates this respect never defaces anything that belongs to another student or the school, never “borrows” property (including money, clothing, books, academic work, papers, calculators, uniforms, art supplies, library books or classroom supplies) without specific permission, never takes or hides food or other items that were intended for another person, never takes things from the “Lost and Found” that are not his, and never violates a student’s or teacher’s privacy by entering her room, computer files or folder, locker, or other personal property without permission.

Use of the school’s computers and network is a special privilege, and analogous standards of integrity apply in this realm. Tampering with operating systems or other students’ files or folders is analogous to “taking” or “hiding” property. Using another person’s E-mail account is dishonest. The Guidelines for Acceptable Internet Use and Statement of Student Responsibility signed by all students elaborates on these guidelines.

Harassing Behavior and Bullying

At The Lawson Academy, we believe every person deserves to be treated with sensitivity and respect. Students who uphold the Honor Code will strive to make all members of the community feel accepted from the first moment they arrive at the school and will treat everyone, regardless of physical, mental, or other differences, with respect.

As a community, we will not tolerate harassment of any kind, whether it is of a general nature or falls within the specific examples listed below.

- Ethnic harassment: abuse of an individual or group on the basis of ethnic origin
- Religious harassment: abuse of an individual or group on the basis of religion
- Gender harassment: abuse of an individual or group on the basis of gender
- Sexual Orientation harassment: abuse of an individual or group on the basis of sexual orientation
- Sexual harassment: use of sexuality to harass
- Cyberbullying: use of technology to harass, threaten, or defame another person’s character

Harassment includes both the more easily identified acts of verbal, written or physical abuse, (i.e., persistent derogatory comments, persistent demeaning remarks, threatening remarks, racial or ethnic slurs, leering references to someone’s body) and the subtler, but equally damaging forms, such as graffiti and stereotypical jokes.

In our world, to “look the other way” is often to condone, and there is no better time than the middle school years to harness our students’ idealism by joining together to make our school a community where honesty and integrity prevail.

The staff hopes to create an environment in which students expect their peers to adhere to the Honor Code and feel comfortable reporting violations or confronting one another. Because the age of our students and the size of our student body make the burden of required reporting of violations too great, students will be encouraged, and taught how, to speak up when they observe another student violating the Honor Code. Likewise, all other members of the school community – parents, teachers, and staff – will be called upon to do their absolute best to protest, in an appropriate way, behavior that lacks integrity.

Bullying

Bullying occurs when a person is exposed, repeatedly and over time, to negative actions on the part of one or more other persons, and he/she has difficulty defending himself or herself. Bullying is aggressive behavior that involves unwanted, negative actions. Bullying involves a pattern of behavior repeated over time. Bullying involves an imbalance of power or strength.

Cyber-bullying

Cyber-bullying involves the use of information and communication technologies to support deliberate, repeated, and hostile behavior by an individual or group that is intended to harm others. “Cyber-bullying” occurs when a child, preteen or teen is tormented, threatened, harassed, humiliated, embarrassed, or otherwise targeted by another child, preteen or teen using the internet, interactive and digital technologies or mobile phones. It has to have a minor on both side, or at least have been instigated by a minor against a minor. Once adults become involved, it is plain and simple cyber-harassment or cyber-stalking.

It is important for each student to report any bullying or threats, whether made during school or away from school to the nearest teacher or adult at school as soon as possible so school officials may take appropriate action. Similarly, parents who have concerns about bullying should meet with the campus administrator. If your child is receiving SpEd/504 services, go to the ARD committee to focus on the problem and arrange a plan to intervene at the campus level.

THE LAWSON ACADEMY Anti-Bullying Policy

The Lawson Academy is a “Bully-Free” School, and as such, acts in full compliance with House Bill 1942 as well as the policies outlined by the United States Department of Education. This Anti-Bullying policy is in compliance with state of Texas requirements that school board trustees adopt a policy on bullying that prohibits the bullying and the retaliation against any person.

Definition of bullying –

Every individual should have the right to be spared oppression and repeated, intentional humiliation, in school as in society at large. A student is being bullied or victimized when he or she is exposed, repeatedly and over time, to negative actions on the part of one or more students. The following are some negative actions associated with bullying:

- Physical aggression – Engaging in assault not involving bodily injury, which is defined as intentionally or knowingly threatening another with imminent bodily injury, i.e., hitting, kicking, destroying property, claiming to have a weapon or referencing family members who will
- Social aggression – Engaging in socially alienating behaviors that interfere with another student’s willingness to participate in the educational process, i.e., spreading rumors, excluding someone from a group, persuading other students to give someone else the silent treatment
- Verbal aggression – Engaging in threats or other acts of intimidation that interfere with another student’s desire or willingness to participate in the educational process, such as name calling, teasing, threatening, or making intimidating phone calls
- Written aggression – note writing, graffiti, slam books, cyber-bullying
- Sexual harassment – comments or actions of a sexual nature which are unwelcome and make the recipient uncomfortable, i.e., inappropriate touching, grabbing, comments about someone’s body, sexting
- Racial and ethnic harassment – Making comments containing racial or ethnic content which are unwelcome and make the recipient uncomfortable, i.e., ethnic jokes, racial name calling, racial slurs

The Lawson Academy Code of Student Conduct considers bullying a Level III disciplinary offense. A student may be suspended, placed in in-school suspension, or, if serious or persistent behavior occurs, removed from the regular classroom, suspended up to expulsion from school.

Campus procedures for addressing incidents of bullying --

If a student believes that he or she is the victim of another person’s bullying, that student is expected to immediately inform a teacher and allow the teacher to conduct a timely investigation. * If the teacher is able to substantiate the student’s claim, then the teacher will inform the appropriate campus administrator.

Once the administrator has been informed and/or has substantiated that the student has engaged in bullying, the administrator will immediately contact parents and schedule separate conferences between the aggressor, the victim, any witness(es), their parents and the academy counselor.

Campus responsibilities related to bullying prevention policies and procedures –

All faculty and staff have engaged in professional development related to bullying, and they are trained in the acceptable and effective methods they must practice.

The Lawson Academy District responsibilities related to bullying prevention policies and procedures –

The procedures for reporting bullying will be posted on the district’s Internet website to the extent practicable.

*If a student does not follow the correct procedure and retaliates against his/her aggressor, he/she will be susceptible to the same consequences that govern students’ discipline. (See The Lawson Academy Code of Student Conduct).

Title I at The Lawson Academy

Title I is a federally funded program designed to improve educational opportunities by providing aid to elementary and secondary education. The intent of Title I is to expand learning opportunities while supplementing basic skills instruction in reading and math. This program serves students who need to improve their reading and/or math skills.

The goals of the Title I program are to:

- Develop positive attitudes toward reading/language arts and math
- Individualize reading/language arts and math instruction according to student needs
- Increase reading/language arts and math achievement

- Increase student self-esteem
- Involve children with parent(s) in reading/language arts and math activities at school and at home

The Lawson Academy is a School-wide Title I school. Title I Schools that operate under a School-wide Plan use the funds received to provide academic services to eligible children who have been identified by the school as failing or most at-risk of failing to meet the State's student achievement standards. The Title I program is designed to reach as many students as possible providing them with the opportunities and support needed to achieve higher standards of performance within the classroom. Individual or small group help is provided to students who are “struggling” with a given concept – determined by the classroom teacher through the use of pre/post testing, daily work, and informal observations.

Children are selected to receive services on the basis of multiple, educationally related, objective criteria established by the district and supplemented by the school. Services for these eligible students must provide instruction that will enable the students to reach proficiency.

Highly Qualified Staff

The Title I staff has met the criteria set by the State of Texas for certified teachers and or highly qualified teachers.

Parents Right to Know

According to Student Success Initiative (SSI), parents have the right to know the qualification of his/her child’s teacher(s). Please contact the school’s principal for this information.

Title I Parental Involvement Policy Statement of Purpose

The Lawson Academy is committed to the goal of providing quality education for every student and recognizes that some students may need the extra assistance available through the Title I Program. It also recognizes the extremely important role a parent plays in the educational success of a student. As such, this Parental involvement policy has been established to promote parental involvement within the school.

The Lawson Academy believes that activities to increase involvement are a vital part of the Title I Program. Parents will have an opportunity to design, implement, evaluate, and suggest changes to improve the program. Components of the Title I Program include parental notification, parental in-service, student program reports, parent-teacher conferences, parent visitation, parent advisory committees, meetings, in-service for teachers, announcements, and policy dissemination.

Notification of Progress

Student academic progress will be monitored, and written notification will be provided to parents monthly, through the use of progress reports and report cards. The Lawson Academy instructors are also available for consultation during scheduled parent-teacher conferences or ad hoc held once each semester. Parents are encouraged to talk to the Title I staff if they have concerns about their child’s progress or the Title I program.

Student/Parent/Teacher Compact

A student/parent/teacher compact has been established to encourage shared responsibility for high student performance and achievement. This compact will be sent home at the beginning of the school year, with the appropriate The Lawson Academy Student-Parent Handbook. Parents are encouraged to discuss the compact with their child.

Types of Parental Involvement

Parents can become involved with their child's education in many ways. The Lawson Academy values the at-home contributions and those that take place at school. Reading to students at home, helping with homework, or discussing the day's activities over the dinner table are as important as volunteering at school. The Lawson Academy will work to assist parents in understanding the academic standards and assessments, help parents work with their child(ren) to raise achievement, and plan activities throughout the year for families.

Evaluation of the Title I Program

Parents of students participating in the Title I program will have the opportunity to evaluate the Title I program. This evaluation will include a section pertaining to the effectiveness of the parental involvement policy, areas of strengths and weaknesses, and barriers to be overcome. The Title I staff, with the help of the PAC, will use this information to evaluate the program and to make changes within the program as needed.

Special Education

Please note that a request for a special education evaluation may be made verbally and does not need to be in writing. Districts and charter schools must still comply with all federal prior written notice and procedural safeguard requirements and the requirements for identifying, locating, and evaluating children who are suspected of being a child with a disability and in need of special education. However, a verbal request does not require the district or charter school to respond within the 15-school-day timeline

Aiding Students Who Have Learning Difficulties or Who Need Special Education or Section 504 Services

For those students who are having difficulty in the regular classroom, all school districts and open enrollment charter schools must consider tutorial, compensatory, and other academic or behavior support services that are available to all students, including a process based on Response to Intervention (RtI). The implementation of RtI has the potential to have a positive impact on the ability of districts and charter schools to meet the needs of all struggling students.

If a student is experiencing learning difficulties, his or her parent may contact the individual(s) listed below to learn about the school's overall general education referral or screening system for support services. This system links students to a variety of support options, including making a referral for a special education evaluation or for a Section 504 evaluation to determine if the student needs specific aids, accommodations, or services. A parent may request an evaluation for special education or Section 504 services at any time.

Special Education Referrals:

If a parent makes a written request for an initial evaluation for special education services to the director of special education services or an administrative employee of the school district or open enrollment charter school, the district or charter school must respond no later than 15 school days after receiving the request. At that time, the district or charter school must give the parent a prior written notice of whether it agrees to or refuses to evaluate the student, along with a copy of the Notice of Procedural Safeguards. If the school district or charter school agrees to evaluate the student, it must also give the parent the opportunity to give written consent for the evaluation.

Please note that a request for a special education evaluation may be made verbally and does not need to be in writing. Districts and charter schools must still comply with all federal prior written notice and procedural safeguard requirements and the requirements for identifying, locating, and evaluating children who are suspected of being a child with a disability and in need of special education. However, a verbal request does not require the district or charter school to respond within the 15-school-day timeline.

If the district or charter school decides to evaluate the student, it must complete the student's initial evaluation and evaluation report no later than 45 school days from the day it receives a parent's written consent to evaluate the student. However, if the student is absent from school during the evaluation period for three or more school days, the evaluation period will be extended by the number of school days equal to the number of school days that the student is absent.

There is an exception to the 45-school-day timeline. If a district or charter school receives a parent's consent for the initial evaluation at least 35 but less than 45 school days before the last instructional day of the school year, it must complete the written report and provide a copy of the report to the parent by June 30 of that year. However, if the student is absent from school for three or more days during the evaluation period, the June 30th due date no longer applies.

Instead, the general timeline of 45 school days plus extensions for absences of three or more days will apply.

Upon completing the evaluation, the district or charter school must give the parent a copy of the evaluation report at no cost.

Additional information regarding special education is available from the district or charter school in a companion document titled Parent's Guide to the Admission, Review, and Dismissal Process.

Section 504 Referrals:

Each school district or charter school must have standards and procedures in place for the evaluation and placement of students in the district's or charter school's Section 504 program. Districts and charter schools must also implement a system of procedural safeguards that includes notice, an opportunity for a parent or guardian to examine relevant records, an impartial hearing with an opportunity for participation by the parent or guardian and representation by counsel, and a review procedure.
